

Heatmap showing correlation matrix of samples. The color scale ranges from blue (low correlation) to red (high correlation). The diagonal elements are red, indicating a correlation of 1. The heatmap is symmetric, reflecting the properties of a correlation matrix. The samples are ordered by their distance from the root of the tree, as indicated by the dendrogram on the left.